Contract raises questions, concerns

By Kent Thompson
Additional scrutiny of the Humboldt County Engineer's Office was asked by a local citizen and by two members of the County Board of Supervisors on Monday at the Board's regular weekly meeting at the courthouse.

The subject came up in relation to the Humboldt County Engineer's contract and agreement for fiscal 2017.

The Board unanimously approved the contract, which will include a 3 percent increase for County Engineer Paul Jacobson, beginning his 16th year in that capacity for the county. The salary increase will bring Jacobson's annual pay to $100,000.

Supervisors Rick Pedersen and Bruce Reimers, both of Humboldt, met with Jacobson to discuss issues of concern regarding county projects and communication between the engineer and the board.

"We are all elected and when our phone is ringing and people are mad because something isn't done right or to their satisfaction, or they've talked to you, Paul, and are unhappy with something...I don't see anything in here, that says how we make someone happy if something needs to be changed?" Reimers asked the engineer.

"If something needs to be changed, that's the Board's prerogative," Jacobson said. "You set it and we implement it," he remarked.

"I understand we aren't going to make everyone happy and that's not what we are trying to do. But we owe it to the people of Humboldt County who pay taxes, to not just blow someone off. Sometimes I feel that's the way we do it," Reimers said.

Regarding minor drainage work, Jacobson said board members met with private contractors that will be handling the bulk of the work.

"The portion involving secondary roads is being dealt with or will be dealt with," Jacobson said.

"Sometimes the best answer is to tell the person 'no,' or 'that's not county policy.' Sometimes that's the hardest answer," Jacobson said.

Pedersen asked about the Board receiving a bi-monthly or monthly update from the engineer regarding the progress on road projects and keeping the Board and public informed about what's going on.

For example, Pedersen said the engineer could report on where rock is being hauled or where roads are being graded, and why that or those particular areas of the county at a given time.

"I'm not trying to micro-manage the department. I just think there could be better communication and might alleviate some questions and confusion," Pedersen said.

"I'm here every week and my door is always open and I invite any and all of you to come into my office and ask questions and we'll bounce through what you want to know about," Jacobson said.

"Each of us represents a certain district and people in our district want something done right now. As a Board we have authority but as individuals we don't have authority to tell Paul what to do. Paul needs to take his orders from the whole board," Supervisor Carl Mattes said.

"All we are asking is an accounting for what's going on," Reimers said.

"I'm not looking for an argument, but I don't think I should have to look up in the claims report how much rock we hauled. You (as the engineer) ought to know that," Reimers said to Jacobson.

"It's an accountability to let people know where their tax dollars are going," Pedersen added.

"We're hauling rock hard right now, hauling out of Lake Township, with 12 miles left and then we'll be hauling in Grove Township using the quarry. Then we'll be hauling rock off private property for the Bode area. Everything in the southwest (part of the county) is done. We hauled 7,000 tons," Jacobson said. He indicated that county road crews would be moving in a westward direction, first to Livermore and then to the Bode area.

Delana Township farmer Kevin Tellier had serious concerns about the county's secondary road operations and told the Board in no uncertain terms what he thought.

"If this contract is accepted, I sincerely hope and pray that there is extensive review of the policies and procedures of this department, and if need be, oversight in the future," Tellier said.

"My road (150th Street at Kentucky Avenue) was de-

Arts Festival is June 18

By Kent Thompson

There will be food, fun, music and dance, children's activities, a variety of vendors and most of all art of all sorts at the Humboldt Area Arts Council's (HAAC) 11th annual Humboldt Arts Festival, planned for Saturday, June 18, at the Humboldt County Historical Museum, 905 1st Ave. N., Dakota City.

"We are very pleased to be partnering with the Humboldt County Historical Association for the second straight year. We received a lot of great comments about the festival last year and it gives people attending not only an opportunity to see art in a variety of media, but also to see displays of Humboldt County's history," HAAC President Lori Curran said.

There will be free entertainment throughout the festival, with Chanterella's Dance Studio and Melinda's School of Dance performing on the Humboldt County Fair stage from 9-11 a.m.

Playing from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., will be World Citizen Band led by Humboldt High School alumni and artisan and musician Ryk Weiss.

From 1-3 p.m., The Du-over's will be performing. The singing duo of Spenser Rahm and Mike Staebell performed at the Humboldt Encore "white out" event a few years ago and are back for a return performance.

They cover about 60 years of music history with a wide-ranging repertoire of music.

Something slightly different this year will be how the children's craft table is set up. In an effort to gather more volunteers and a variety of free children's craft activities, Arts Council members have asked local businesses and organizations to sponsor a table and provide people in leading the craft activity.

"It provide the business or non-profit a chance to get their name out in front of the public and provide a variety of new and different children's activities," Curran said.

HAAC would like to thank Bank Iowa, W&H Cooperative, Sister's Home Style Entrees, Hy-Capacity, First State Bank/Town and Country Insurance, the Humboldt Boy Scouts and the Our Saviour's Lutheran Church for sponsoring a craft table and providing volunteers to help the children.

Among the activities will be mini-magnet masterpieces, T-shirt art, popsicle art craft and dog tag necklaces. Kris and Craig Christensen will be running the always popular wood sculpture area, where children can create their own buildings, structures and figures. Gunder Church Furniture is a gracious supplier of wood scrap for the student projects.

Participating artisans are part and parcel to the festival success. This year, the festival will be right at 30 artisans, which is pretty typical for the event according to HAAC committee chair Lisa Rasmussen.

"We've had many repeat artisans who have been with us for several years, including Lee and Nancy Inman of Humboldt with their upcycled crafts from Lee Ann's Creations. Martha Thien of Des Moines will be back with her jewelry, Laurel Mors of Fort Dodge with her designs and jewelry, Larry Holden of Marshalltown with his wildlife art and Larry Huske of Fort Dodge with his oil paintings are some of the regulars who will be returning," Rasmussen said.

Arts on the Avenue

The "Bringing Back the Avenue" group is planning a promotion in downtown Humboldt for Thursday, June 16, from 5 to 7 p.m., called "Art on the Avenue."

Businesses will have an artist or crafter on-hand doing demonstrations and have special sale prices offered in their stores.

People can pick up an "Art on the Avenue" card at a participating business, which will include a "paint by number" sketch. Each business will be listed on the card with a number assigned. The businesses will each have different colored markers or colored pencils for participants to color their corresponding numbered space on the card. Once the card is complete, they can be turned in at Kist Korner by 7 p.m. to be entered into a drawing for a grand prize giveaway, made up of donations from each store.

"We wanted to tie-in and help promote the Humboldt Arts Festival which is that weekend and have some fun downtown," Bringing Back the Avenue group member Lynn Kist of Kist Korner said.

Participating businesses include Kist Korner, Humboldt Engraving, Uptown Humboldt Mercantile, Sister's Home Style Entrees, Hair Studio 706, Witz End and V&S Variety Store. Read next week's Reminder for more details about each store's activities.

Business leaders, educators talk about workforce issues

By Kent Thompson
In an effort to improve education and practical outcomes, the Humboldt Community School District and the Humboldt Community Development Association (HCDA) held a meeting between educators and business leaders to prioritize workforce skills for a changing tomorrow, emphasizing how educators and businesses can work together to develop and hone those skills among students.

Greg Darling

The activity was held around the lunch hour at the school on Wednesday, May 25, with about 40 people attending.

Humboldt School Superintendent Greg Darling outlined some of the strengths of the district and the need to tap into the thoughts of the business community as the district strives to improve.

Darling reported that Humboldt has been recognized as a top performing school by the Iowa Department of Education. Of assessment information on 1,344 schools in the state, Humboldt was in the top 10 percent, or top 15 schools statewide.

"We've been recognized as a top school — Blue Ribbon School, at the elementary level, nationally. Our ACT scores over the past few years have been among the top in the state. A lot of the things we are doing are making a difference," Darling told the gathering of educators and business leaders.

"It's not just in the classroom, but outside as well. Our Middle School students packed thousands of meals for the Meals from the Heartland effort. A number of our students participate in the Silver Cord community service aspect," he said.

Humboldt was one of the first districts in the state to get a Teacher Leadership and Compensation Grant and to begin to implement the teacher-mentoring program. The high school Building and Trades program recently completed its 15th house in the community. The Project Lead the Way engineering program continues to expand.

While some schools dropped vocational agriculture and industrial tech programs because of budget constraints, Humboldt retains a strong hands-on instructional program in agriculture and vocational trades.

"Our students learn to weld and build things and use quantitative thinking skills to arrive at practical solutions," Darling said.

"Our students average 14.8 college credits upon graduation and some have many more than that.

"There are great things going on in our school and our community and I'm excited about it," Darling told the group.

He then introduced each of the building principals.

Elementary Principal George Bruder talked about how Humboldt is implementing a program to satisfy the early literacy law standard that is being required for students who have completed the third grade, and how a summer school program is being instituted to help students who are behind, since reading is a key to all learning.

"Our Early Childhood Learning Coordinator Tamela Johnson and I attend conferences and meetings, and Humboldt is ahead of the game in being proactive to meet those requirements," Bruder said.

Business partners

"I want to recognize and thank the business partners we have who are working with our elementary classrooms. It's a project we've been doing for three years now and the students are learning much more about businesses in our community. We even have a waiting list," the elementary principal said.

"Every grade level is a different vocational pathway; a nature path, a technology path, a helping path, so as students move through our building they are exposed to a career in each of the pathways," Elementary Guidance Counselor Liz Dent reported.

Early childhood partners are Wempen's Floral and Gifts, Humboldt County ISU Extension and Outreach and Coleman Farms. Kindergarten partners are KHBT, Pasquale's Italian Restaurant, Floral Creations and The Humboldt Independent. First grade partners are Melinda's School of Dance, the Humboldt Post Office, North Park Family Dentistry and Witz End. Second grade partners are the West River Recreation Center, Humboldt County Public Health, the Humboldt Veterinary Clinic and Humboldt County Memorial Hospital. Third grade partners are Computer Works, Hy-Capacity, Corn Belt Power Cooperative and Midland Power Cooperative. Fourth grade partners are InSite Creative Photography and Design, Bank Iowa, Hy-Vee and Northwest Bank.

"We are so thankful for the business community's willingness to invest in the education of our students at a young age. They love when the business partners come and read to them or talk about their businesses and provide fun activities related to their work. They feel connected to the businesses," Dent said.

Bruder also thanked First State Bank for partnering with the school in its literacy goals with a special incentive program encouraging students to read.

Future development

Middle School Principal Brenda Geitzenauer talked about an eighth grade job skills class that was developed this past year. Students learn some entrepreneurial skills as well as information about creating a resume and interviewing for a job.

Students in the Middle School took an agriculture field trip this past year, sponsored by Opheim Chemical and Seeds and Mechanical Solutions. Eighth graders took a ski trip this past winter and looked about recreational and physical education job opportunities. There is also a STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) class, with all 5-8th grade students taking part.

"We are looking for more opportunities for hours and hands-on learning experiences for that class," Geitzenauer said. The Middle School program is coordinated with the high school Project Lead the Way program, so students with an interest in STEM can continue accelerated learning opportunities.

Seventh and eighth grade health classes partner with many private and public entities to talk about diseases, proper hygiene and public health issues. The classes partnered with The Heart of Iowa Realtors Association Humboldt Chapter, to provide information about breast and testicular cancers for the students to share with their parents.

Sixth graders partnered with the Izaak Walton League, whose local chapter provides a free tree for them to plant. They also partner with the Humboldt Fire Department for a fire safety day.

New this year, middle school students worked on creative concepts in designing and building, sponsored by Corn Belt and Midland Power Cooperatives.

Middle School Counselor Mark Wenzel talked about types of instruction for different classes. Fifth graders work on building friendships, getting along and working with others and resolving conflicts.

Sixth graders worked on Internet projects and posts through Ricochet, learning about leadership, and also had section on drug abuse and use.

Seventh graders emphasized project-based learning, building a catapult using popsicle sticks and rubber bands, utilizing some of the vocational soft skills of working as a team.

Eighth graders learn about practical skills and what it takes to be successful in a job.

"We'd really like to partner with local businesses to give students some idea of future opportunities in a given skill and how to be successful in the vocational area," Wenzel said.

JOBS and STEM

High School students are doing just that. High School Principal Lori Westhoff talked about the JOBS program (Jobs and Opportunities for Business and Students). It has been ongoing for the past 3.5 years.

Westhoff said 39 students have participated in the program over the years with at least 20 local businesses participating.

"Students have actually gotten into the businesses and done jobs, so they know when the graduate that this is something they would like to do, or not like to do," Westhoff said.

Talented and Gifted students have done some mentorship activities with other students in the workforce. Special needs students also have had the opportunity to be involved in the local workforce.

"Our 10th grade language arts students do a one-day job shadowing program in local businesses, so we are very grateful to our local businesses for allowing our students into their work places, whether it's for one day or a whole semester," Westhoff said.

Humboldt High School is fortunate that about 40 percent of the instructors have master's degrees and can teach college credit classes, and there are 4-5 Iowa Central Community College instructors who travel to Humboldt to teach.

In addition to the Building Trades Program, the Health Occupations Program at HHS allows students to earn advanced credits and receive on-the-job experience in local health care settings and graduate from the program with their Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist Degree.

Westhoff expounded on the Project Lead the Way program, where students learn to do three-dimensional drawings on the computer and are able to learn about engineering principles and about designing and constructing objects. They analyze the strength of a toothpick bridge and determine if the bridge will be an adequate load-bearing structure. Students in the program move on to digital electronics and fourth year engineering design and development.

This past year, three senior students in the class, Barry Jensen, Jeremiah Larabee and Jordan York designed a special head mount on freshman student Morgan Raether's wheelchair that allows for a switch for interactive applications, such as turning pages on an online book that is shown on a Smart Board. (See related story.)

Next year, biomedical science and introduction to computer programming will be added to the Project Lead the Way engineering program.

Soft skills needed

Following the program, educators and business leaders met in groups and were asked to assign a 1-18 rating of workforce skills, with one being the most important and 18 being the least.

Ranking high on the list was the ability to collaborate and work well with others, critical thinking skills (problem solving, creativity and analysis), effective communication (both written and interpersonal) and the importance of fostering leadership skills. Hands-on career experience and the relationship between business and education relating to the modern workforce were also ranked highly among some of those surveyed.

Business leaders at the summit meeting also emphasized that soft skills (ie. timeliness, respect, attendance and attitude) remain highly valued, but seem to be forgotten by some Millennials or Generation Z employees entering the workforce.

"I can train someone for a job, but they have to be there and have the attitude that they want to learn," one business leader commented.

Several in attendance reported that attitude about one's job, constitutes a large portion of a new employee's potential success.

It was also mentioned that the current generation of employees don't just want a job but want to feel there is meaning and importance behind their work, emphasizing the need to be part of a larger picture.

HCDA Economic Development Director Alissa O'Connor reported that the Association conducts annual call visits with 35 major manufacturers in the county.

"Soft skills are absolutely vital. We have major issues with kids coming into interviews with their parents or in their pajamas, or not being able to form a sentence properly because they text all of the time. I hope the school is providing education and information on that. It's something all of our local industries struggle with in hiring," she said.

"Attendance, appropriate dress and communication, are all really important," O'Connor said. The school district hopes to use information and knowledge gained from the meeting to improve and change educational offerings to meet the needs of the workforce of today and the skill sets of tomorrow.

Humboldt students help Morgan learn

From the Prairie Lakes AEA
Morgan Raether is a freshman at Humboldt High School who uses a wheelchair and struggles to communicate.

Prairie Lakes AEA staff members have been working together with Humboldt staff to model and try tools and strategies designed to help Morgan be more independent. Tiffanie Zaugg, assistive technology coordinator with Prairie Lakes AEA, has been working with Humboldt Special Education Teacher Janice Winkelbauer to identify what assistive technology approaches would be a good fit for Morgan.

One of the tools that Morgan found success with is what is called the BIGmack switch. With what appears to be as simple as a button, this switch will open up worlds of access to communication devices, environmental controls, computer software and mobile devices for Morgan.

Zaugg had brought a clamp to mount the switch to the wheelchair. However, the clamp was bulky and awkward to bend into position.

The Humboldt High School Engineering Design and Development class, led by Ryan Bowman, was asked if they could design and build a smaller, more usable, head mount on Morgan's wheelchair for the switch. The students gladly accepted the challenge and the results have been impressive.

"She has been using the head switch to access materials, turn on music at request, and turn pages on an online book that is shown on an interactive whiteboard," said Tammy McKimney, the Prairie Lakes AEA academic strategist who works at Humboldt.

"Now that we know Morgan can respond using this head mounted switch, the possibilities could be endless," McKimney said.

The engineering team is already planning ways to continue to use the switch next school year.

One possibility is hosting a switch party where Morgan can work with other students, such as making milkshakes in a blender to share with classmates.

stroyed on March 21. I had to drive through mud. Fifteen miles an hour would stop you dead unless you had a four-wheel drive vehicle.

"I asked, 'what's going to happen?' I was told, 'we're going to re-rock it.' A resident on 150th asked for rock over a month ago and he was told the road would be re-rocked in two weeks. I've heard about rock being hauled around the county but not a word about Delana Township," Tellier said.

"You might as well not bother hauling it, because by the time you get around to it, the snow plows will be out a week later and it will all be pushed in the ditch," he said.

"Don't just tear a road up in March or April and leave it sit and think the dirt will just blow away. It might in June and July but not in the spring," Tellier said.

He advised the supervisors that as a farming community, many of the people paying the engineer's salary haven't had a pay increase over the last three years. He said the Board should keep that in mind.

"If a review needs to be made and a policy needs to be changed, do that," Tellier said.

Mattes said policies are reviewed on a yearly basis.

In another road-related matter, the Board approved a contract and bonds with Midwest Contracting LLC of Marshall, MN, for a bridge to box culvert replacement on 110th Street between Oak and Ohio Avenue. The amount of the contract is $110,420.

The Board also heard from Dave Hundertmark of rural Rutland. Hundertmark reported on a ditch that was dredged prior to 2000, where the pipes were pinched incorrectly and will now require an expensive ditch clean out.

"You need to have someone inspecting these projects while the tile is being put in," Hundertmark said. "It's not a mess that will go away in a year or two. It will be here for 100 years," he said.

Hundertmark also reported on drainage pipes being pushed down on Hawaii Avenue in Section 6 of Rutland Township. He said the pipes were undersized. He was advised to sign a drainage petition with the drainage clerk to have the area investigated.

Deed approved

The Board approved a resolution transferring interest on county real state and signed of a quit claim deed to property in the east half of the northeast quarter of Section 5 of Lake township to Sandra Rae Prilipp of Algona and Kathy Ann Hill of Humboldt, for the financial consideration of $3,000.

The action ends the litigation between the women and the county over the dirt pile just north of Hardy.

The county engineer said the dirt at the site will be removed and the ground leveled before Nov. 1.

The Board passed a resolution that will authorize the approval of a 28E agreement between the county and Humboldt Community Daycare, but the 28E agreement will be signed at a later date.

In other action the Board:

- Approved the transfer of $9,920 from general basic to debt service and $1,954.03 from the LEC equipment fund to debt service to satisfy interest payments for the Law Enforcement Center debt.

- Approved a 28E agreement for law enforcement and emergency services with the city of Ottosen.

- Approved and placed on file a Region V Response Commission audit report.

Artisans will be accepted up to the day of the event, so anyone with an artistic bent may contact Rasmussen at (515) 890-1098 if they would like to reserve a spot.

Humboldt High school student Kate Curran will have a booth again this year, displaying hair accessories and jewelry. HAAC allows young people to display at no charge, in line with its mission statement of promoting the arts among young people.

Rather than a community art project this year, Arts Council member Jodi Giddings will be organizing a kit decorating session for a cost of $5, with the proceeds going to help fund HAAC student and teacher scholarships.

There will be plenty of food and drink on the grounds. Hy-Vee will have its smoker and grill at the museum, offering many lunch options. PEO Chapter BV will be selling homemade pies. The Arts Council will be selling ice cream for $2, with proceeds going toward student scholarships and community programs. Marti Merrill, "The Ice Cream Lady," will be offering her array of food and treats. Caribbean Coffee will also be there with blenders, frappes and other coffee drinks and specialty items.

The Arts Council will have an information booth with art posters, wine glasses and T-shirts for sale.

"A lot of individuals and businesses from the community contribute to make the Arts Festival a success and we can't thank them enough," L. Curran said.

"Jake Zweibohmer has reworked his original logo, the fair board has been great in letting us use the stage and Tom Detrick has been great in making sure we have the right number of electrical hookups for our artisans and food vendors," Curran said.

State Fair Queen coming to Humboldt

Ellen Schlarman

Humboldt County area residents will have a chance to meet and hear Iowa State Fair Queen Ellen Schlarman speak at the Humboldt County Fairgrounds Events Center on Wednesday, July 6, at 1 p.m. The event is free and open to the public.

She will speak about highlights from her past year as Iowa State Fair Queen.

Future fair queen candidates are encouraged to attend. There will be a drawing to win a VISA gift card for all females in attendance ages 16 to 21.

"Please plan to attend and show Ellen a warm Humboldt County welcome," Lori Curran, one of the coordinators of the Humboldt County Fair Queen competition, said.

Schlarman also represents Jones County as the 2015 Great Jones County Fair Queen. She lives in Monticello with her parents and two younger sisters. She and her sisters are each four years apart and value their sister bond.

She graduated in May from Monticello High School with high honors, serving as Valedictorian of her class. During high school she was a member of the National Honor Society and was also actively involved in cross country, basketball and track for four years. Ellen earned a silver service cord for serving more than 300 community service hours with numerous community organizations. Through volunteering, she experienced many rewards and benefits of helping others.

Ellen enjoys spending time with her family, especially vacationing, camping, playing cards with grandparents and participating in RAGBRAI with her grandmother.

"Faith has always been an important part of my life. It has helped me overcome challenges in my life and has also been part of many celebrations in my life. I have been blessed and honored to have the opportunity to serve as the 2015 Iowa State Fair Queen. This opportunity changed my life and I will cherish the memories and friendships I created for many years to come," Schlarman said.

Reflecting on the pageant experience, she said she focused on the opportunity to grow as an individual and develop new friendships rather than the crown.

"I would encourage all ladies to compete in their local pageants. And remember, when you step outside your comfort zone, you are stepping into your own greatness," she said. "As a young woman, this was a wonderful opportunity for me to develop life skills and confidence that will carry over to my future endeavors."

On a related note, the deadline for entering the 2016 Humboldt County Fair Queen competition is Tuesday, June 21, at noon. Orientation takes place on June 22 at 9 a.m. The queen coronation takes place on Wednesday night, July 27, at the Humboldt County Fair grandstand.

Entry forms can be found at www.humboldtcountyfair.com, or by contacting Lori Curran at (515) 890-1228.

Anderson is Girls State representative

By Kent Thompson
Developing leadership skills, confidence and an action-based understanding of the government process is all part of the American Legion Auxiliary Girls State experience.

This year's event will be held at Drake University in Des Moines, June 12-17.

Attending this year from the local area will be Brooke Anderson of Humboldt. Brooke recently completed her junior year in high school and is the daughter of Jim and Marva Anderson.

Brooke was selected by Unit No. 119/Adams Post of the American Legion Auxiliary in Humboldt.

She is one of 300 young women from across the state that have completed their junior year of high school and will be attending this year's convention.

Brooke Anderson

Girls State attendees learn about city, county and state government processes. They set up their own city, county and state governments and administer them according to the laws of Iowa. The girls participate in legislative sessions, campaigning, party rallies, debates and voting, while gaining a deeper knowledge of parliamentary procedure and the entire political process.

In addition to their political activities, the girls hear from several motivational speakers, along with state and local government leaders.

Activities at ALA Girls State include report, public speaking and debate, singing, talent shows, field trips, group devotions, patriotic ceremonies and experience in the mock court system.

The week culminates with an inauguration ceremony on Friday where the governor and other officers are installed.

The program has been ongoing for nearly 80 years. Each year, about 16,000 young women participate in the program nationally.

Brooke has been actively involved in a number of school and community service projects during her high school career. She recently returned from the Iowa State High School Girls' Golf Tournament, where she helped Humboldt earned a fifth place. In addition to being a three-year varsity letterwinner in golf, Brooke has been a three-year letterwinner in basketball and two years in girls' volleyball and one year in cross country.

Brooke has been involved in the Silver Cord program, volunteering at least 100 hours per year helping her community. Her activities have included volunteering at school by babysitting at parent/teacher conferences, assisting elementary teachers in preparing packets for students, helping at the youth basketball tournaments, volunteering at the Dam Skunk Race and working at the booster club concession stand.

Brooke has been a Sunday school teacher for pre-school students at her church the past three years and has helped serve the community church musical meal.

In the community, she has volunteered 20-25 hours per year at Kiwanis Christmasland and has helped the local Chamber of Commerce with its Soup with Santa event after the holiday lighted parade. She has helped at the Humboldt County Fair by taking grandstand tickets and assisting at the kiddie tractor pull. She annually volunteers at the Humboldt County Relay for Life, driving disabled survivors around the track in a golf cart and shuttling people from the front gate to the track.

This past year, Brooke and a friend organized a "Purple High Heel Race," for a local teacher battling pancreatic cancer, raising $1,500 toward pancreatic cancer research. She also raised private funds to help a classmate suffering from cancer.

Brooke has also helped the Brushy Creek Honor Flight and the Meals from the Heartland organizations.

"I am honored to be asked by the American Legion Auxiliary to represent Humboldt at Girls State. I look forward to meeting new people and participating in the scheduled activities. It sounds like a lot of fun," Anderson said.

Past participants at Girls State have included network broadcast journalist Jane Pauley; former Governor of Texas, the late Ann Richards; Lynne Cheney, wife of former U.S. Vice President Richard Cheney; and Lt. Gen. Michelle D. Johnson, superintendent of the U.S. Air Force Academy, an Iowa Girls State alumna and the first woman to lead a U.S. Department of Defense Service Academy. She previously was the deputy chief of staff at the Supreme Headquarters for NATO in Casteau, Belgium. Johnson was recognized as the 2014 American Legion Auxiliary Woman of the Year.

"The local Legion Auxiliary appreciates the public's generous support in purchasing poppies during our recent fund drive, which allow us to provide this opportunity for our youth. We congratulate Brooke on this honor," said Legion Auxiliary President Alice Warner.

Council approves equipment purchases

By Kent Thompson
The purchase of two major pieces of equipment along with resolutions and motions relating to real estate and financial bonding were the main items of business during a 40-minute meeting of the Humboldt City Council Monday night.

The Council approved the purchase of a 2016 Chevrolet Tahoe patrol vehicle. The matter was discussed during budget discussions in February.

City Administrator Travis Goedken told the Council that there was more utility and cost savings by keeping the existing Chevrolet Tahoe as a backup patrol vehicle that the amount the city would realize on a trade-in. At some point, the city could also look at the private sale of the vehicle.

During budget discussions, the Council budgeted $35,560 for the purchase. The city received a state bid of $36,987.19 from Karl Chevrolet of Ankeny. The largest share of the overage was a destination charge of $1,195 from Karl Chevrolet. The manufacturer's suggested retail price for the vehicle is $50,000. The vehicle has a heavy-duty, police-rated suspension and a 5.3-liter V8 engine.

Goedken explained that the vehicle purchase does not require competitive bid process for equipment over $25,000, if it is purchased through a government contract.

The Council also approved the purchase of a mini-excavator after some explanation from City Parks and Sanitation Superintendent Clayton Vorland and some discussion by the Council.

A mini-excavator for use by the parks, cemetery and street departments was proposed and approved as a capital purchase in the city's budget plan for 2016-17.

Vorland received three bids for equipment: a mini-excavator 305.5 ELCRHZ from Ziegler CAT for $65,978, a Hitachi EX50U mini-excavator from Murphy Tractor and Equipment for $58,400, and a John Deere 50G mini-excavator from K.C. Nielsen in the amount of $54,600.

Vorland said in bucket breakout force and digging force the CAT outpaced the other models and was the only one of the three units that met the specifications the city was seeking for the equipment.

Vorland said he demoed the CAT and Hitachi models, and recommended purchasing the CAT.

"It could dig straight down from where we need to sit to dig a grave. Its bucket rotates out a little further than the other models. We won't have to move the unit an additional time. With the John Deere and Hitachi models we wouldn't be gaining much from what we already have with the backhoe," Vorland said. "The digging force (difference) was also a big consideration," Vorland said.

He said the mini-excavator offers a lot of flexibility benefits in digging over larger headstones.

The city budgeted $75,000 for the purchase. The Council then agreed to purchase the Caterpillar mini-excavator for $65,987. The Council briefly discussed a lease rather than a purchase, but believed because the city would be utilizing the equipment for 10 years or longer, purchasing made the most sense.

Building, daycare and bonds

The Council held a discussion about providing tax incentives up front in order to help the Humboldt County Development Association (HCDA) find a more willing buyer for the speculative building located in the Humboldt Business Park on Highway 169. The building has been up for sale for three years with no buyer.

"There is interest HCDA President and Ward 1 Council member Jim Vermeer said. "It was the association's thought that if the city would be willing to front load the tax benefits we could lower the price and possibly move (sell) the

Don't Keep Family in the Dark About Your Plans

You might work diligently at building a financial roadmap for your retirement years and a comprehensive estate plan. But you can't just create these strategies – you also have to communicate them. Specifically, you need to inform your spouse and your grown children what you have in mind for the future – because the more they know, the fewer the surprises that await them down the road.

Let's start with your spouse. Ideally, of course, you and your spouse should have already communicated about your respective ideas for retirement and have come to an agreement on the big issues, such as when you both plan to retire, where you'll live during retirement, and what you want to do as retirees (volunteer, travel, work part time and so on).

But what you both might have let slip through the cracks are the important specifics related to financing your retirement. You'll need to answer several questions, including these:

When will you each start taking Social Security?
Are there strategies for maximizing both of your Social Security payments?

When will you need to start tapping into your respective retirement accounts, such as your IRA and 401(k)? And, once you do start withdrawing from these accounts, how much should you take out each year?

You may want to work with a financial professional to address these issues, but however you proceed, you and your spouse need to be "on the same page" regarding the key financial components of your retirement.

Now, consider your grown children. You need to clearly communicate your estate plans to them, not only for the sake of openness and honesty, but also because they may well play active roles within those plans. So when talking to your children, make sure you cover these areas:

Durable power of attorney – You may well decide to give one of your grown children the durable power of attorney to pay bills and make financial choices on your behalf if you are unable to do so.

Estate executor – An executor is the person or entity you name in your will to carry out your wishes. An executor has a variety of responsibilities, so you'll want to choose someone who is honest and capable of dealing with legal and financial matters. Again, you could ask a grown child to serve as your executor, but, to avoid potential conflict of interests among your children, you might want to go outside the family. Talk with an attorney about how best to name your executor.

Status of will and living trust – Assuming you have already drawn up a will, share it with your grown children. The same is true with a living trust, a popular estate-planning tool that may allow your survivors to avoid going through the time-consuming, public and expensive process of probate. A will and a living trust will obviously contain a great deal of information your children should know about – so take the time to explain your thinking when you created these documents.

You want to enjoy a comfortable retirement, and you want to leave a meaningful legacy through your estate plans. To help accomplish both these goals, you need to include your loved ones in your arrangements – so open those lines of communication.

Council

building," Vermeer said.

Vermeer said the HCDA has invested approximately $375,000 in the building. He said with incentives, perhaps the development group could lower the asking price to around $325,000, and stimulate more interest.

While the tax incentives were not immediately spelled out, Goedken said they would be similar to slide scale abatements the city has issued in the past related to new development.

Councilman Darrell Rusher moved to approve the adjusted offering with the rest of the Council unanimously agreeing.

In other development news, the Council passed two resolutions agreeing to not to exceed $1,350,000 and $2,000,000 in general obligation capital loan notes for the city for essential corporate purposes.

The funds would be used for replacement of a storm sewer main and associated repairs on Sumner Avenue and Lewis Street, phase 2 of the development of the Humboldt Business Park, including the extension of Industrial Avenue and associated infrastructure, and costs for a portion of the purchase of a new pumper truck for the Humboldt Fire Department.

The Council agreed earlier for the project not to exceed $1.25 million. Goedken explained that the additional $100,000 would be to cover the cost associated with the bonding process, as well as the repayment of the first debt service payment that would be due June 1, 2017. Goedken said an unnamed third party has agreed to pay the first debt service payment for the city at 0 interest. Goedken said because the city has a large amount of debt coming off the books in 2020, the loan agreement will be structured to pay higher amounts of principal and interest after that time.

A public hearing on the bond issuance was set for Tuesday, July 5, at 5:30 p.m., in the Council chambers at Humboldt City Hall.

The Council discussed heavy truck traffic on Elmhurst Avenue due to the construction in the Eagle Ridge addition.

Nick Frederiksen, a project manager with ISG, the city's engineering firm, reported that one loaded dump truck is equal to the weight capacity of 5,000 regular passenger cars.

"There are some pretty failed spots on Elmhurst that will have to be addressed, due to the rutting and settling," Frederiksen told the Council.

He said he couldn't give a weight limit restriction figure, without studying the street and the amount of traffic.

Council members generally agreed that rerouting truck traffic to Wildcat Road and north on Forest Boulevard would be a better route to the new development, rather than traveling east and west on Elmhurst.

Vermeer said his only concern was with parking on both sides of the street on Forest Boulevard, trucks might have a hard time making the corner. "We might have to limit parking to one side of the street," he said.

The Council agreed that rather than pass a city ordinance, calls could be made to contractors for the existing project. Frederiksen offered that for future projects, the route for large trucks could be spelled out in the in the construction contract.

"It's normally something we go over at the pre-construction meeting, so it's pretty easy to do," Frederiksen said.

The Council passed a resolution authorizing a 28E agreement between the city of Humboldt, city of Dakota City, Humboldt Community School District, Humboldt County, Humboldt County Memorial Hospital and Humboldt Community Daycare.

The City Council budgeted $7,000 for 2016-17 as payment to the Daycare Board. The 28E stipulates that each entity will be responsible for one-fifth of the debt service payment. If the note is for 20 years, it's anticipated that the debt service payment will be below $7,000, Goedken told the Council.

The city administrator said the document was reviewed with Eric Eide, the city's legal counsel. His concerns express were making the 28E subject to annual appropriations, and having an indefinite time (until the debt is repaid) for the agreement contract.

Goedken reported that the Iowa Department of Transportation has turned down a grant request from MIDAS Mid-Iowa Council of Governments for improvements to the former Humboldt Fire Station directly north of Humboldt City Hall, for use as a Co-City bus garage.

The multi-county government agency had hoped to be able to utilize the space for its local fleet of buses and transport vehicles. The reason for the refusal is because MIDAS does not own the building, and the city would not be a seller, as city offices are in the other half of the building.

Humboldt County Emergency Management has moved its vehicles back to the county building in Rutland.

Goedken said plans for the time being are to use the space as city storage.

In other action the Council:

- Approved a five-year lease to Bank Iowa for the parking lot directly south of the rear of the business. There is no monetary exchange for the lease and the city agrees to remove snow, fix potholes and perform all normal maintenance and parking striping for the lot, which is open as a municipal lot for use of the public on a 24-hour, seven-day per week basis.

- Approved on third reading an ordinance amending the structure of the Historic Preservation Commission from five to seven members.

- Approved a class C beer permit and Sunday sales for Ampride.

- Approved a class C liquor license and Sunday sales privilege for El Sol de Mexico.

- Approved street closures for the annual Humboldt-Dakota City Area Chamber of Commerce 4th of July Parade on July 4, at 7 p.m.

2016 spring turkey harvest tops 12,000

Turkey hunters reported harvesting nearly 12,200 Iowa birds this spring, which is highest harvest total since hunters were required to report their harvest in 2007.

Iowa's five spring turkey seasons began April 9 with the youth season and ended on May 22. Hunters purchased nearly 51,000 spring turkey tags.

Hunters can help the DNR with collecting population information during its annual turkey count in July and August.

Make a note of the date and county in which you saw the turkey(s), if it is an adult female or adult male (males have beards on their breast), and whether there are young poults (baby turkeys), and then report the number online www.surveygizmo.com/s3/2115256/Iowa-Wild-Turkey-Reports.

Governor proclaims June Great Outdoors Month

The 2016 summer recreation season is just getting started and there are plenty of days ahead to enjoy the outdoors.

Governor Terry Branstad recently proclaimed June as Great Outdoors Month, encouraging all Iowans and visitors to take the time to enjoy the state's recreational opportunities, take in its scenic beauty and make a commitment to stewardship of our natural resources.

Great Outdoors Month is designed to focus on the importance of simple outdoor activity and appreciation of Iowa's natural resources, by promoting biking, swimming, hiking, paddling, fishing, hunting, boating, bird watching, camping and general nature exploration of our lakes, prairies, woodlands, rivers and wetlands.

"Iowa has outstanding opportunities for safe, fun outdoor recreation," says DNR Director Chuck Gipp, "and getting outdoors promotes good health and helps create lasting memories with friends and family."

The economic impact of outdoor recreation nationally exceeds $650 billion in annual expenditures, and in Iowa, it supports an estimated 105,000 jobs.

Iowa's parks, forests and wildlife areas reflect the state's natural and cultural history and attract millions of recreationists each year. Iowa's state parks alone expect to host more than 900,000 overnight stays and nearly 15 million day visits this year.

"Enjoyment of Iowa's outdoors allows us to celebrate the commitment of our state to conserve and protect our air, water, wildlife and lands," says Gipp, "and also contribute to conservation efforts through various licenses and fees. Iowans understand, as well as anyone, the direct relationship between natural resource conservation and the quality of life in our state."

It's not too late to reserve a state park cabin

Not interested in sleeping in a tent? Don't have an RV? How about trying an overnight stay in a state park cabin this summer?

Despite the busy summer season, some state parks still have cabins open for reservations -- even on the weekends.

Camping cabins only require a two-day minimum reservation and camping cabins are available at Green Valley, Honey Creek, Lake Darling, Prairie Rose, Stone and Waubonsie state parks, and Pleasant Creek Recreation Area. Weekday rentals are available in all of these parks' camping cabins, and Pleasant Creek, Stone and Waubonsie each have a number of summer weekends still available.

Two yurts, circular tent-like structures on platforms, are also available for two-night stays at McIntosh Woods State Park.

Family cabins require a Friday-to-Friday stay during the summer season. Believe it or not, there are family cabins with weeks available that include one or both of the big summer holidays -- July 4th and Labor Day. They include Lacey-Keosauqua, Nine Eagles and Waubonsie state parks, and the new cabins at Union Grove State Park.

For more information regarding state parks and cabin or yurt rentals, visit www.iowadnr.gov/parks or <http://iowastateparks.reserveamerica.com/>. Reservations can also be made by calling 1-877-427-2757.

Clarion woman charged after hit-and-run in Renwick

A Clarion woman was charged after a traffic accident in Renwick caused damage to a parked car and a residential yard.

The accident occurred in the early morning hours of Friday, June 3, according to the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office (HCSO).

According to the report, a 2009 Ford Escape driven by Jessica J. Eittrheim, 20, Clarion, was northbound on French Street and drove through the "T" intersection at French Street and McCurry Street, continuing through the landscaping and striking a legally parked 2003 Toyota Tundra pickup at a residence on McCurry Street. Eittrheim then fled the scene but was stopped a short time later in Renwick.

Eittrheim was charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, first offense, a serious misdemeanor, and failure to maintain control, a scheduled traffic violation. She spent the night in the Humboldt County Jail and was released after appearing before the county magistrate.

There was an estimated $2,500 damage to the front driver's side corner of Eittrheim's sport utility vehicle, and an estimated $500 damage to the parked Toyota pickup.

The HCSO investigated a single-vehicle accident on 8th Street North in Dakota City on Saturday, June 4, at 8:30 p.m.

According to the report, a 2009 Dodge Challenger driven by Adina P. Moore, 29, Prior Lake, MN, failed to negotiate a curve on 8th Street North in Dakota City. The vehicle lost traction due to excessive speed, losing control and sideswiped a utility pole. The force of impact sheared off the passenger side door. The vehicle continued turning west onto Main Street and drove past 7th Street before parking in the 600 block of Main Street.

Moore and four passengers were uninjured in the crash.

Moore was not charged. There was $9,000 functional damage to the front and middle passenger side of the Dodge. There was an estimated $10 damage to the utility pole belonging to MidAmerican Energy. It was lightly grazed.

Museum quilt for 2016 called "Around the World"

By Carolyn Saul Logan

This year's quilt is called "Around the World" and was donated by LeAnn Zogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Reedy. It's colors are shades of brown and gold and because the number of hand quilters has dwindled drastically, it is machine quilted. It is a queen size quilt and a beautiful addition to anyone's bed. It is on view in the ballroom of the Mill Farm House at the museum.

Tickets for the quilt will be on sale at the Saturday Market on Summer, the museum and the Humboldt County Fair. Tickets for the quilt are one of the few ways the museum raises money; they are $5 each. So even if you are not the winner, you are making a donation to the museum's programs and displays. Historically, quilts were created as a bed cover however their intricacies and decorative qualities have grown to the point where quilts now have many uses. Quilts can be hung or draped as decoration, created as a commemorative item (such as the Aids Memorial Quilt), designed as a campaigning device or to express an individual's artistic expression. Back in the day of knights and armor, they provided protection in the form of a garment called a gambeson. There was even a quilted garment for a knight's horse. Quilts can educate, document events, and be a fundraiser, such as the museum's yearly quilt auction. And of course, a quilt makes a wonderful gift to put under someone's Christ-

Grant applications available for school and community tree planting

Trees For Kids grant applications are now available for the fall 2016 grant cycle. The Trees For Kids grant program is designed to provide hands-on educational opportunities for Iowa youth by planting trees on school grounds and other public places.

Iowa DNR forestry staff are currently setting up site visits with schools and communities interested in applying for the grant, which pays up to $5,000 in tree and mulch cost, and provides educational tree planting demonstrations to participating adults and youth.

This past spring, 20 schools and/or communities received more than $62,000 in Trees For Kids grants to plant more than 900 trees around the state. Over the life of these trees, they will save more than 310,000 kilowatt hours of electricity by shading buildings and more than 68,000 therms, by slowing winds and reducing building heat loss.

During their lifespan, the 900 trees planted this spring will help reduce flooding by intercepting more than 39.8 million gallons of storm water, and will reduce more than 5.3 million pounds of atmospheric carbon dioxide through CO2 sequestration and decreased energy production needs and emissions.

Trees planted around schools and in neighborhoods have also shown to give youth increased levels of concentration, lower levels of aggression, lower levels of obesity and fewer symptoms of

Communities are made more livable by having a healthy, diverse tree canopy.

Wildcat girls place 5th in state golf

Wildcats end season in state meet for 2nd straight year

By Phil Monson
For the second straight season the Humboldt High girls' golf team ended the year competing in the Class 3A state tournament.

Last week Humboldt closed the book on a record-setting 2016 season by placing fifth in the state tournament held at Coldwater Links Course in Ames on May 31-June 1.

a two-day total score of 751. Atlantic claimed the team title with 696 strokes and Clear Lake was second at 736. Centerville placed third with 742 and Shenandoah was fourth with 750. North Fayette Valley was sixth at 770, MOC-Floyd Valley seventh at 781 and West Liberty was eighth with 782.

Humboldt, which finished a surprising second a year ago at state, had visions of winning this year. But Atlantic, which won its second state title in three years, came prepared and ended the first day with a 359 total, 10 shots better than Clear Lake. Atlantic was sizzling on day two as they shot 337.

"We're not really satisfied with fifth-place, but it is what it is. They have nothing to hold their heads down about. We had a season of breaking records, conference champs, regional champs, undefeated season and making it to state back-to-back years," Wildcat head coach Jess Harklau said. "We have a lot to be proud of as we look back on the season."

"As a whole, it was good that we came back and shot better coach Rodd Mooney said. "We tried to make some adjustments, but she still managed to score two goals tonight."

"It was our first game on artificial turf this year and so I thought in the first half it took us a while to get used to the speed with the ball moving quicker on that surface. Plus, it was a windy day and we had the wind in our face in the first half. It was an uphill struggle against a very good team," Mooney said.

"In the second half we settled down and played an even contest with them, for the most part. I don't think it was out of control in the final 40 minutes. I was pleased with how our girls played hard right to the very end," Mooney said. "They've done that all year. They don't give up or quit when things don't go their way."

"It was a tough loss but we were happy we could beat Kuemper in the first round to get a chance to play Gilbert," Mooney said.

Mooney looked back on his first year as head coach and saw progress from top to bottom.

"I think we learned a lot as the season went along. I've had a lot of discussions with the kids about what their knowledge was and where they were. Towards the end of the year I think we had progressed to playing soccer the way I envisioned we could play at the beginning of the year. We definitely improved as the season went along," Mooney said.

"Those are things we can take forward with us into next year."

"It was a learning year for us coaches in figuring out what our personnel is like and what their tendencies are and how to best utilize them. We made good progress this year and I'm excited to come back next year and get after it," Mooney said.

The match marked the final contest for seven seniors, which include Caitlyn Wadsley, Morgan Weydert, Lizbeth Gonzalez, Talyn Larsen, Kendra Beaman, Jackie Fisher and Autumn Hauser.

"The senior class were super great leaders. They are just plain good people. They helped transition everybody from what they've done in the past to what we were doing this year," Mooney said. "I thought they did a nice job with that."

Wolverine girls fall to No. 2 Mustangs

No. 2 ranked Newell-Fonda used a four-run fourth inning en route to a 10-0 victory over West Bend-Mallard/Gilmore City-Bradgate last Friday (June 3) night in Twin Lakes Conference softball.

The Mustangs collected 10 base hits off of Wolverine pitcher Taylor Fogarty, who scattered 10 hits, walked one and struck out three in five innings.

The Wolverines could manage just one hit in their turn at the plate with Taylor Elbert hitting a single. N-F scored two runs in each of the first and second innings and added one in the third and one in the fifth innings.

The loss dropped WBM/GCB to 3-4 overall on the season, 0-2 in conference play.

"They are strong on base running. Their pitching isn't as dominant as it has been in the past, but tonight we gave them four outs with poor decisions on base running," Wolverine coach Liesel Schwartzkopf said.

SLSM 16, WBM/GCB 15

A seven-run seventh wasn't enough as the Wolverines lost 16-15 at Storm Lake St. Mary's on June 1 in Storm Lake.

St. Mary's responded with five runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to make the score 15-15. After WBM/GCB was scoreless in the top of the eighth, St. Mary's scored a run in the bottom of the eighth to end the game.

Bratland

Bratland, who just completed his second year as head wrestling coach of the Coast Guard Academy in New London, CT, says he's excited to return to Iowa this weekend for the event.

"It's been a long time since that took place. It's truly an honor. When it was happening at the time, when it was present day, I don't know if we realized how big it was. I just know it was our expectation. We thought we accomplished our goal at that present time," Bratland said. "Now that I have been coaching for a while since, I look back at some of the records and say, 'man, that's awesome. We were a very dominant program.'"

"At the time it was our job to get to nationals and try and win the national title. Looking back at that year, yeah, we sure took care of business," Bratland said.

Bratland, who has come full circle as a wrestler and coach, looks back on the Wartburg accomplishment with much appreciation.

"Now that I'm coaching and recruiting, I really appreciate the magnitude of that accomplishment. As an athlete, you want your teammates to do well, obviously, but you are mainly focusing on yourself so you can do as well as you can to help the team," Bratland said. "Now, being a coach and seeing what goes into coaching and building a team, I appreciate even more the coaches I had back then in coach Miller, coach Keller, coach Malacek and all the other assistants who helped at that time. I appreciate what they did for our program."

"Sure, each of us had to go out on the mat and get the job done, but I would attribute any success I've had or the team had to the coaching staff and volunteers. They got us physically and mentally ready to go out and compete at a high level. Now that I'm coaching, I sure appreciate what they did for us back then," Bratland said.

"I'm excited to see old coaches, teammates, friends and family. People I haven't seen in a while. I haven't lived in the state of Iowa now since 2004. It will be good to be back and a lot of fun to catch up with people this coming week," Bratland said.

Bratland graduated from Humboldt High School in 1997. In high school, he was a state runner-up in 1996 as a junior and a third-place finisher in 1997. He was a state qualifier in 1995 as a sophomore.

Bratland led the wrestling program in North Central College of Naperville, IL, for eight seasons before taking the Coast Guard position in June of 2014.

Bratland graduated from Wartburg in 2003 with a degree in fitness management. He received his master's degree in exercise science in 2004 from the University of Northern Iowa.

As a collegian, Bratland was a two-time National Wrestling Coaches Association Division III All-Academic Individual and two-time NCAA Div. III All-American. In 2002 he finished third in the nation at 157 pounds and improved his placement to second as a senior in 2003. Bratland served as Wartburg's co-captain as a junior and senior and was the team's most valuable wrestler those same two years.

Bratland served as the assistant wrestling coach at Ohio Northern University for two seasons before coming to North Central. He was assistant coach and strength and conditioning coach at Wartburg from 2003-05. He helped Wartburg to its second national title in 2004.

Bratland began his wrestling career at Iowa State University in 1997 and was part of the top-ranked recruiting class in the nation along with four-time undefeated national champion and Olympic gold medalist Cael Sanderson and four-time All-American and national champion Joe Heskett, now coach at Army. Bratland also assisted Humboldt in the 1999-2000 season.

Bratland is in the process of rebuilding the Coast Guard program and is getting acclimated to the east coast.

"It's going really well. It's a little bit of a learning curve, but I think I'm getting the hang of things out here on the east coast," Bratland said. "I'm excited about my recruiting class coming in this fall. The future is bright. I'm very optimistic about what we are doing out here in working with the school and administration. I'm excited about the future. We're getting better, definitely."

Bratland and his wife, Lindsay, have two sons, Brody (seven) and Tucker (five). Kevin is the son of Kenny and Jana Bratland of Dakota City.

Wildcat freshman girls open with 15-11 triumph

Humboldt's freshman softball team opened their season with a 15-11 victory at Clarion on June 3. Humboldt totaled six hits in the contest, led by Claire Varangkounh with a double, single and two runs batted in. Megan Abens singled in two runs and Addie Birdsell singled in a run. Mackenzie McCartan singled in two runs, Morgan Hotovec hit a double and Valerie Cox drove in two runs. Varangkounh and Shayna Lange shared the pitching duties for Humboldt with Varangkounh starting and allowing two hits and two strikeouts. Lange allowed no hits and struck out one. "We did a really great job on defense and were aggressive running up to meet the ball. We were also aggressive on offense and it showed at bat and on the base paths," Wildcat coach Beth Short said. The Wildcats host Webster City on June 9 and visit Hampton on June 13 and Webster City on June 14.

Girls golf

as a team on day two. That's a positive," Harklau said. "After day one, the girls weren't satisfied with how they played and so we were out on the course that night practicing."

"The experience the girls gained this week will only make us better for next year," Harklau said. "All of our starters are juniors so everybody will be back next year. That's another positive."

Humboldt shot 379 on the first day and followed up with a 372 on the second day. Brooke Anderson led Humboldt with an overall score of 180. Avery Terwilliger finished with 187 and Halie George shot 190. Taylor Gidel carded a 203. Brenna Howard (205) and Olivia Birdsell (207) round out the Humboldt scoring.

The course presented challenges with lots of hilly greens flanked by deep sand bunkers and rough grass on the other side of the greens measuring four feet in length. Classes 3A and 4A played in the meet, with two to three groups playing each hole at a time.

"The experience of playing 36 holes over two days, 18-18 back to back, created some very long days - it was something we were not ready for and the pace of play was very slow," Harklau said. "The state tournament last year (Marshalltown) was not this slow. This year you would be on a hole for 30 minutes."

"Most coaches I talked to thought the course was too hard for a girls' meet. The pace of play was slow. We spent hours looking for balls. I think every girl lost a couple of balls in the tall grass and that slowed things down even more," Harklau said. "We weren't used to the slow pace of the tournament. All three of our Saturday tournaments this past season got cancelled due to weather. The only 18 we played was our first day of regionals," Harklau said. "I don't think we were mentally prepared for how the meet was going to unfold and trying to keep focused on playing golf for seven hours."

"I felt going in that it would be Atlantic and us competing for the first spot. After day one, I told our girls we have nothing to lose so let's just go out and play better than what we did the first day and try to improve. We accomplished that," Harklau said.

"Scott Birdsell (boys coach) was with us and it was nice having another coach to help out with at the state tournament," Harklau said. "It was beneficial to our team to have extra knowledge and motivation from another coach."

"The course is hard enough. They have sand bunkers and four-foot grass surrounding the sand. On day two they placed the pins behind every sand bunker. I told the girls do not go for the pin, shoot for the green and then putt to the flag because you will get yourself into so much trouble," Harklau said. "Physically we were fine, it was just the mentality aspect. Seven hours of golf and thinking about your next shot. The girls thought so much about placing their ball that they were struggling."

"We don't have to play like that on any other course we play on during the season. The pace of play made it challenging. Other teams just played better than us today. It's that simple," Harklau said. Harklau says her team will be better off in the long run with the experience they've gained this past season. Now the focus is on 2017.

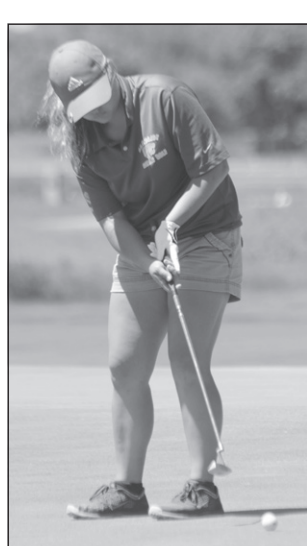

"We'll put in the time in the off-season and come back ready to go again next season and see what we can accomplish," Harklau said. ## Connect children with nature, science and art

Connecting young children with nature will inspire and support budding scientists, techies, engineers, artists and mathematicians, says Malisa Rader, a human sciences specialist with Iowa State University Extension and Outreach.

"Children in early childhood learn primarily through their senses and from direct hands-on experience," said Rader, who specializes in family life issues. "Children develop an understanding about the world through play, exploration and creative activities, and by watching and imitating adults and other children."

Young children have a lot of energy and are naturally curious about the world around them, Rader said. Parents, child care providers and educators can encourage children's creativity by offering hands-on activities like dramatic play, painting, drawing, sculpting, music and dance.

"Early learning and experience is critical to child development," Rader said. "Some call it a 'window of opportunity' that doesn't usually reappear in later life. The early years are a time to develop positive impressions about nature and build the foundation for lifelong social and academic skills."

Research shows that people who have become committed to the environment and its beauty spent time outdoors in wild or semi-wild places when they were children, with adults who taught them respect for nature, Rader said.

Rader suggests trying these ideas when taking a young child outside:

- Watch a caterpillar or a lighting bug or listen to chirping crickets.
- Point at a bird in the yard.
- Talk about the leaves.
- Touch pine tree needles.
- Paint a picture of a flower.
- Gaze at the clouds while lying in the grass.

"Children stay engaged in nature activities for long periods of time outside. Watch the child's sense of wonder, joy and mystery. Talk together about what you're seeing, and re-discover your own sense of wonder as well," Rader said.

Malisa Rader is an ISU Extension and Outreach human sciences specialist housed in the Hamilton County Office. Her education and experiences in the field of early childhood and parenting education have developed her passion to empower and strengthen the well being of children, families, and the communities in which they live. ## 2016 ISU Northern Iowa Research Farm Summer Field Day

The Iowa State University (ISU) Northern Research and Demonstration Farm will host its 2016 summer field on Thursday, June 23. Crop management, nitrogen management and soil health will highlight the summer field day, which will take place in Kanawha at 310 S. Main St., immediately south of town. Matt Schnabel, farm superintendent, will begin the field day program with a season review of the farm. ## ISU Extension services in 1950s

Sep. 9, marks the 100th anniversary (1916-2016) of the Humboldt County Extension Service. Following is a bit of history starting with the first years of Extension services. This is the ninth in a series of weekly articles on the history.

In 1950, Louis Rank was the County Extension Director. Myrtle Hewitt, Home Economist, and John Govern, the 4-H Youth Assistant. Dairy Products Improvement Association was set up to correlate the county dairy program as a supervisory group with Dairy Herd Improvement Assoc., the Quality Milk Improvement Assoc. and Artificial Breeding Association and to assist in the development of the Owner Sampler program. Swine Carcass demonstration was held; Humboldt County Cattle Feeders Group was active and the County Extension Director and the S.C.S. held field days. About 1,500 attended the plowing match, field day and the Rural Youth Tractor Rodeo. These were financed with $100 from the Chamber of Commerce and $150 subscribed by Humboldt businessmen. The Director has cooperated with Henry Hansen, one of leading apiary producers in NW Iowa, in production of red clover and sweet clover in rotation.

Visual aids were used more, films were available, Miss Hewitt presented programs on clothing construction, cuts of meats and hobbies in the home. Pre-school health checkups have proven to be an outstanding project. The theme of Rural Women's Day was International Relations. There was a "get out the vote" campaign. 4-H had 390 members. MUNICIPAL SWIMMING POOL UPDATE AND BENEFIT

"The City of Livermore Municipal pool building has received a much-needed facelift over the past few weeks with volunteer painters." Mayor of Livermore Elden Landolt said. He was in charge of the majority of the refurbishing along with his wife, Joann, working on a lot of the painting with the help of volunteers. "The major kick-start was painting the exterior of the building with bright colors along with the restrooms," said Landolt. "The building has not had anything done for a very long time and it really looked antiquated." Some of the walls were painted Frog Hopper Green, Cruisin Blue, Buzz-Worthy Yellow and the changing rooms were also painted yellow.
Along with the new paint, the city workers worked on the pool heater and plumbing to repair all of the water leaks. The lifeguard's space was cleaned up and painted blue and green along with the shelving for the locker storage baskets. The Livermore Swimming Pool opened last Saturday, June 4, and the pool benefit was held last Sunday along with free swimming all day. The benefit was well attended.
Please remember to donate your pop cans or plastic bottles to benefit the pool inside the chain link fenced in area located next to the Livermore Recycling Center. (No glass bottles please). The City of Livermore is pleased to announce free swimming lessons will be given this summer at the Humboldt Pool, June 20-29, and July 11-22, at no cost for anyone who has purchased a Livermore pool season pass.
